“The incredible beauty, wonderful people and down-to-earth lifestyle are what drew me to Sedona.”

After completing an interior design program at the prestigious Interior Design Institute in Denver, Colorado, Stephanie Larsen moved to Orange County, California, and worked with a team for two years. Then, she decided she was ready to found her own firm. She moved to Sedona and did just that, opening Stephanie Larsen Interior Design. As for the location she chose, Larsen says, “After living in Orange County, I knew the hustle and bustle wasn’t for me. One visit to Sedona ensured me this resort community was where I wanted to establish my boutique firm. I love being in Sedona. It’s a great place to live and work.” Focusing on only a handful of high-end residential projects each year, Larsen prides herself on being involved in every detail of each design. Describing Northern Arizona as “amazing, beautiful and spiritual,” she touches on the true nature of a region known for its breathtaking views and inherent peace. In regard to the area’s architectural and interior design styles, Larsen notes a slight shift from the adobe aesthetic to a Southwest contemporary style, with a sense of warmth and durability of materials. Creating stunning interiors in locally renowned neighborhoods, such as Casa Contenta, The Aerie and Cross Creek Ranch, Larsen has become known for her ability to stay true—to the client’s desires, her own intuition, and the home’s architecture, location and landscape.

PRO PERSPECTIVE: A CONVERSATION WITH STEPHANIE LARSEN

1. This space features a maintenance-free, porcelain tile floor and backsplash; custom-designed and -built, European-style black walnut cabinets; and quartz countertops.

2. Beauty is in the details of this state-of-the-art home, featuring a Southwest style mixed with modern lines and finishes, and rich textures.

What do you like most about your job?

Meeting all kinds of individuals. When people purchase a home in Sedona, they truly want to be here. I love working for happy people and grateful clients!

Who/what are your greatest influences?

My dad. He once asked me, “What do you love to do? What is your passion?” He said if I chose what I loved doing, the money would follow, and I would always love what I did. He was right.

Describe the lifestyle in Northern Arizona.

Most people spend their time outdoors, biking, hiking and enjoying the beautiful scenery. The Northern Arizona lifestyle is healthy, happy and full.
